Costs explanation

The faculty of the Lionel Hampton School of Music offer this camp as a way to help promising young musicians explore making music. We operate this at no profit, so our pricing is set only to help us cover costs. Many faculty members even donate their time to help us make ends meet.

We are offering world-class instruction, musical performances, meals and facilities for the absolute lowest price that we can, and even then, we understand that the price of the camp can be burdensome for many. We do our best to help with scholarship funding when available, but these funds are always limited.

For reference, at our current rates, our day campers are paying an hourly rate of $5.90, which includes lunch and dinner. Our overnight campers are paying an hourly rate of $5.68, and that adds a third meal as well as overnight accommodations and supervision.
